Natural environment makes human life possible, and our cultural environment helps define who we are. It is therefore essential that our population and economic growth are environmentally sustainable. Department of Economics has a core paper called Environmental Economics, which is a sub-field of economics concerned with environmental issues. It has become a widely studied subject due to growing environmental concerns in the twenty-first century. Moving towards a green economy has the potential to achieve sustainable development and eradicate poverty on an unprecedented scale, with speed and effectiveness. To show the importance of nature to our students, Department of Economics in collaboration with Unnat Bharat Abhiyan, has conducted various competitions to encourage awareness and action for the protection of the environment on World Environment Day on 5th of June 2021 like Poster presentation, Photography, Planting of tree saplings and Quiz Competition etc. in the department level. Senior faculty from the department were the judges of these competitions.
